Microneedling RF

1 TREATMENT

£299

3 TREATMENTS

£799

MRF Microneedling (Radiofrequency Microneedling) is a skilled skin rejuvenation technique whereby two technologies come together to encourage the production of collagen proteins within the skin. Our device does this through the use of insulated needles that not only inflict highly controlled trauma to the outermost layer, but also deliver radiofrequency energy deeper into the skin at the same time.

This ignites natural healing processes and increases cell turnover. As a result, skin appears naturally tighter and firmer after just one treatment session, but the best results are seen over the course of around 3 treatments with annual top-ups. This can target skin concerns such as:

- Fine Lines
- Wrinkles
- Stretch Marks
- Appearance of Large Pores
- Acne Scars
- Scars from Injury or Surgery
- Hyperpigmentation
- Loose, Sagging Skin
- Cellulite

- Strengthens the capillary walls
- Increases cellular energy which improves and speeds up the efficiency with which the skin functions, regenerates, repairs and heals itself
- Increases hydration within the skin and an improved ability to retain moisture
- Decreases redness so excellent for Rosacea, and reactive/sensitised skins prone to redness
- Improved elasticity & firmness
- Calm the skin and reduce irritation and inflammation, including inflammatory acne
- Improve the texture, clarity and radiance of the skin

HIFU - High Intensity Focused Ultrasound

HIFU uses focused ultrasound energy to target the layers of skin just below the surface. The ultrasound energy causes the tissue to heat up rapidly.

Once the cells in the targeted area reach a certain temperature, they experience cellular damage. While this may seem counterintuitive, the damage actually stimulates the cells to produce more collagen – a protein that provides structure to the skin.

The increase in collagen results in tighter, firmer skin with fewer wrinkles. Since the high-frequency ultrasound beams are focused on a specific tissue site below the skin's surface, there's no damage to the upper layers of the skin and adjacent issue.

HIFU may not be appropriate for everyone. In general, the procedure works best on people older than 30 with mild-to-moderate skin laxity.

Anti-wrinkle Injections

Roll back the skin years..

Antiwrinkle injections are a fabulous treatment to reduce and soften forehead creases, frown lines and wrinkles around the eyes known as 'crows feet'. Anti-wrinkle injections contain Botulinum Toxin which is injected into the muscle with a very fine needle.

1 AREA
£140

2 AREAS
£190

3 AREAS
£240

These injections block the signal from the nerves to the muscle which causes the muscle to relax and no longer contract, resulting in the lines to soften and even fade away!

The procedure takes effect from 4 days and lasts between 2-6 months.

Advanced Electrolysis Treatments

£99

This technique uses Advanced Electrolysis to pass energy into the skin eliminating imperfections. We can treat a wide range of skin blemishes, from thread veins, blood spots, spider naevi, skin tags milia and warts. Advanced Electrolysis is a quick, easy and safe procedure and there is no down time associated with this technique. Requires a skin consultation with our skin specialist in clinic.

Skin Tags

Skin tags are benign, innocuous growths which vary in size, shape and attachment. They are often found in areas where there is friction, such as where the skin creases or clothes rub.

Campbell de Morgan

Large blood spots on the body, head and scalp are often known as Campbell de Morgan. They are a completely harmless vascular blemish that can easily be removed with diathermy.

Poikiloderma of civatte removal

Test patch is needed prior to treatment. Poikiloderma is the association of the following cutaneous features: atrophy pigmentation telangiectasias

Milia

Milia are small, dome-shaped bumps that are usually white or yellow. They're usually not itchy or painful. However, they may cause discomfort for some people.

Epidermoid Cyst/Pilar Cyst removal.

Pilar cysts are subcutaneous keratin-filled cysts that originate from the outer hair root sheath. They can often be found in multiples on the scalp of middle-aged females. Epidermoid cysts usually affect young and middle-aged adults and contain keratin and pus. These can be formed after trauma or injury or from a hair follicle that has become inflamed. (Sterex)

Age spots (Liver spots) removal

Whether you call them age spots, liver spots, sun spots, brown spots or solar lentigo, these benign areas of discolouration commonly appear on our hands, neck, shoulders and face as we get older. They are caused by a build up of melanin and 'lipofucin' in the connective tissue and are completely harmless. (Sterex)

Xanthelasma

Patch test required in small area. Only ONE eye can be treated at once. Xanthelasma palpebrarum are blemishes caused by deposits of cholesterol under the surface of the skin. They range in size from very small up to 1? in diameter and are normally found on the eyelids. (Sterex)

Sebaceous Hyperplasia Removal

Patch test required. Sebaceous cysts are created when a small amount of sebum is retained under the skin and blocked by an overgrowth of surface skin. They are relatively uncommon and are often confused with epidermoid cysts (also known as infundibular cysts) and pilar cysts. Sebaceous cysts are filled with a clear, oily liquid made by the sebaceous glands and are usually found on the face, neck and trunk of the body. (Sterex)

Advanced Electrolysis Treatments

Dermatosis Papulosa Nigra

Patch test required before treating multiple blemishes. Dermatosis Papulosa Nigra are small brown or black raised areas of skin that affect one third of people with Fitzpatrick skin types 5 and 6. In many cases, Dermatosis Papulosa Nigra is a genetic condition that appears on the face, upper cheeks and temples, eyes and chest and increases with age. While Dermatosis Papulosa Nigra does not pose a threat to your health, it can have an impact on your self confidence and mental well being. (Sterex)

Syringoma

Patch test required before treatment. Can only treat ONE eye at a time. Benign non contagious flesh coloured elevations of the skin. Treatment of Syringoma on the lower eye lids and upper cheeks is common but they can form in other areas such as the forehead.

Telangiectasia

Patch test required in small area. Telangiectasia, also known as red veins, thread veins and broken capillaries, are common in exposed and vulnerable areas such as the nose. These can be caused by trauma to the skin. Treatment aims to restore the previous appearance of the skin. (Sterex)

Spider Naevi

Patch test required in small area. Spider naevi are telangiectases that consist of a large arteriole from which radiate numerous small vessels that resemble, in the mind's eye, spider's legs. They are found in the distribution of the superior vena cava i.e. on the arms, neck, and chest wall.

Advanced Electrolysis Treatments

£99

Wart removal (Common, Plane, Filliform)

Test patch will be needed where appropriate. Warts are small, rough, viral growths on the skin. They are very common and are usually spread by direct skin-to-skin contact or indirectly through shared contact with contaminated surfaces. Warts do not usually cause any other symptoms in people with normally functioning immune systems and usually resolve without treatment, although this can take months or years. (Sterex)

Verrucae (plantar wart)

Verrucae, also known as plantar warts, can be extremely painful. They can range from a small pinhead up to a large singular or widespread mosaic coverings and often contain black dots. Verrucae can disappear spontaneously or they can last for years. (Sterex)

Seborrheic Keratosis (wart) Removal.

Patch test required before treatment. These are benign flat, raised, or pedunculated lesions, varying in colour from yellow to dark brown. They are more usual on the trunk and increase in incidence from 40 years onwards. There may be a familial tendency for widespread forms. They are not infective.

Mole Removal

Starting at

£199

Doctors note is Mandatory for this treatment. The majority of us have some moles and, generally, they are benign. They are a form of pigmented naevi that are commonly found on the face and body, varying in size and colour from pale tan to brown to blue/black and often developing deep terminal hairs in them because of a well-developed blood supply. Generally it is best to avoid treating moles, but if yours is causing you severe distress it may be able to be treated with diathermy. (Sterex)
